Interest Groups – A Web Based Research Project

Use the attached list or the special web site:

www.jvanells.info

Interest groups play a very important part in American politics. They represent the wishes and interests of everyday citizens like you and me as well as large multi-national corporations. Interest groups are effective because they can combine the motivation, energy and financial resources of many.

Interest groups perform various functions but most importantly they attempt to influence government. The purpose of this project is to focus in on interest groups so we can learn what they are, what they represent and how they operate.

Complete a short typewritten paper (use question and answer format). The paper must answer all of the following questions:

1. What is your interest group?
2. Where is the interest group based?
3. Who is the current President of the group?
4. When, where and why was it founded? Who founded it?
5. What is the purpose, issue of your interest group?
6. How many members does your interest group have?
7. What does the interest group do for its members (member services)?
8. What issues does it support? How does it justify (defend) that position?
9. What issues does it oppose? How does it justify (defend) that position?
10. What legislation has it supported and opposed in recent years?
